

PDP Course Justification

Complete ONLY if a workshop or course is of questionable academic benefit and does not obviously meet the requirements for academic credit. (Examples of such courses might be modern dance, witchcraft, or other non-academic course work.) It is your responsibility as applicant to justify how this course or workshop is useful to you as a teacher assistant. NOTE: this form does NOT take the place of a certificate of completion for the course, which should also accompany your PDP application and educational requirement submissions.
